Overall Assessment Score

Understanding Your Score: Your assessment score reflects your personal judgment of readiness. Higher percentages indicate alignment with traditional expectations, while lower percentages suggest less traditional approaches. Neither is inherently better or worse.

- The most important consideration is how your assessment and expectations align with someone you are married to or discerning marriage with.
- The closer the percentage (with your spouse), overall, the more aligned your expectations will be.

Your Psychographic Profiles

Balanced Visionary (General Profile)

You have a thoughtful, balanced approach to marriage. You value both traditional and modern perspectives, seeking harmony between stability and flexibility. Your understanding of marriage dynamics with a natural ability to adapt v

Understanding These Gender-Specific Comparisons

These statistics compare your results specifically with other men. Higher or lower scores indicate different approaches to marriage, not better or worse ones. The most important consideration is how your assessment compares with your spouse or future spouse, as closer percentages typically indicate better alignment in expectations.

Your Compatibility Profile

Based on your psychographic profile, we've identified the types of people you'd likely be most compatible with. Closer alignment in expectations suggests better compatibility, but isn't mandatory for a successful relationship.
