84%

Understanding Your Score: Your assessment score reflects your relationship with marriage, not a judgment of readiness. Higher percentages indicate alignment with traditional marriage values, while lower percentages suggest lean towards alternative approaches. Neither is inherently better—just different expectations.

- The most important consideration is how your assessment score compares with someone you are married to or discerning marriage readiness.
- The closer the percentage (with your spouse), overall, the more successful you will be.

Your Psychographic Profiles

Steadfast Believers (General Profile)

You hold traditional values and religious convictions central to your life and have high expectations.
